Ice Jams On West Coast

Possible New Floods Face Washington

Good Evening!

Only two more days left.

Old 1964 quickly fading away, and, you know, we're sorry to see it go. As with most years it's had its joys and sorrows and its encouragements and disappointments. Yet, not at all a bad 12 months.

Okay, get on with the new resolutions.

The bold resolve in making 'em is surpassed only by the happy abandon in breaking them . . . year after year after year. With us, this has long since become welcome habit. With you, maybe also?

Great storms sweeping across Europe and heavy snows isolate 500 marooned in the Northern California - Oregon mountain region by the devastating Christmas Week floods.

We're still keeping our fingers crossed, but the fact remains that in beautiful, old and jumping Bucks County winter thus far couldn't be more perfect.

Steel industry starts price hiking on a "selective" basis and President Johnson hopeful it'll think twice about the public interest in this connection.

Maybe it will. But we've an idea it's also thinking about the steelworkers' package over which both the industry and the USW are now negotiating and will be for many months to come.

And we see where Senator Goldwater is more vigorously insisting that Dean Burch remain the national chairman as a matter of preserving and strengthening the Republican Party.

Somebody had better start getting hep. What will happen under the Senator's aegis, indeed what is already starting to happen, is disintegration of the party, and if we're not very, very careful America is going to be tragically saddled with a one-party system.

It's a good thing, before your wife goes to the supermarket, to advise her to use shelf-control.

Think small. Big ideas upset people.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two large ice jams in the Yakima River brought warnings of possible new flooding in the state of Washington today, as snow and rain from an arctic-spawned storm continued to batter the flood-ravaged Pacific Coast.

Daredevil civilian and armed forces helicopter pilots stood ready for a break in the weather, to make mercy food and medicine flights to 500 mountain residents isolated near the California-Oregon border. However, the weather bureau offered very little encouragement.

The Christmas week deluge and subsequent arctic storm killed at least 41 persons and caused damage estimated at $500 million in the five-state area of California, Oregon, Idaho, Nevada and Washington.

William Ward, regional director of the California Disaster Office here estimated that about 13,000 persons were homeless in California alone.

The Red Cross said more than 16,300 families had suffered flood losses to homes, farms or businesses in the Far West. It counted 8,617 in California, 7,170 in Oregon, 365 in Idaho and 149 in Washington.

Flood connected deaths included 20 in California, 18 in Oregon, two in Idaho and one in Nevada, but Ward said the death toll may be higher.

"We have reason to believe that casualty figures will go up as the waters recede and we find more bodies among the debris," he said.

The mountain inhabitants were cut off by the devastating floods early last week and then blasted by a swirling snowstorm during the weekend. The pilots attempted to reach them Monday but were thwarted by the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

3-2 Vote At Jammed Meeting

L. Southampton KO's Urban Renewal

By BILL GIGNAC
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Lower Southampton Township supervisors last night, by a 3-2 vote, rejected the $274,000 urban renewal project proposed for Elmwood Ave., Trevo.

Nearly 100 persons jammed the municipal building. Many protested urban renewal for the township. However, members of the Citizens Advisory Committee voiced their approval of the project.

The township's participating share in the project was estimated from $20,000 to $48,000 which was considered by many of those present as too high a price for a recreational area.

As expected, the vote which defeated the urban renewal project was 3-2 with Supervisors Samuel Mirabello, Harry Bentz and Donald Bertollet voting against the project. George Owens, supervisor chairman, and Harry Fritz voted for it.

This was a reversal of the unanimous vote urban renewal received in 1962 by the previous board.

The federal project was originally approved for the construction of a municipal complex on 8.3 acres on Elmwood Ave. on a site declared blighted by federal standards.

River's Really Rolling Along

The Delaware River's flowing the best it has in seven months.

That's the word from the U.S. Weather Bureau in Trenton which today reported the flow of water at 11,000 cubic feet per second. Meteorologist George Whiteley pointed out that normal flow is about 5,000 cubic feet per second. The present flow is the best since last May, he noted.

The river level at 8 a.m. was 2.20 feet.

Additional rain may hit Lower Bucks tomorrow as temperatures warm up into the low 40s. Today's high beneath cloudy skies was expected in the mid 30s. At 3 p.m. the thermometer reading was 31 degrees.

Snow isn't in today's forecast, but a sprinkling of flurries were noted in Lower Bucks at noon.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The loot in the hijacking of a Brink's armored truck from a Roman Catholic church was set at $223,000 today. The FBI and police investigated the possibility that the robbery was linked to an almost identical bank truck looting in New Jersey last week.

A S. Genet, president of Brink's, made the estimate of loot taken from the Brink's truck in suburban Norridge

Monday night. Three masked bandits invaded the rectory of the Divine Savior Church, tied up two priests, and lay in ambush for the money-laden truck to come for proceeds from Sunday's collections.

The holdup was almost a carbon copy of the $513,000 robbery of a bank truck from in front of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church at Paterson, N.J., a week ago Monday.

There were three masked bandits in both cases. At Paterson they also invaded the rectory, bound the priests together, looted the church safe, ambushed the truck guards, and passed up bags of silver.

Marlin W. Johnson, chief FBI agent in Chicago, said the FBI was looking into the possibility "that the Paterson mob could have come here."

Michael J. Spiotto, acting chief of detectives of the Chicago police force, said it was possible that an eastern gang had come to the Midwest and pulled off a reenactment of the Paterson robbery.

"If they did, they would have needed local talent," Spiotto said. "This took planning. It's just as likely that a local hold-up gang studied the Paterson job and was inspired."

AUTHORITY REPORTS

Twp. Sewer Usable

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Bristol Township Authority, backed up by reports of two civil engineering firms, says the township's $8,542,000 sanitary sewer system is in working condition and ready to use.

The authority, replying last night to accusations made by a third engineering firm that the system is "unusable," threatened to take legal action against the township unless residents in the Croydon area are permitted to tie in to the sewer lines.

Reports were read at last night's authority meeting from Gannett, Fleming, Corddry and Carpenter, Inc., of Harrisburg, consulting engineers for the authority, and George B. Mebus Inc., of Glenside, engineers for George Tripp, Inc., construction firm which installed sewer lines in the Croydon area.

Requested Reports

Substantially, both reports said the sewers are fully usable and that the system is well constructed.

The authority requested the reports following the Dec. 16 meeting of the township board of commissioners at which time a report, rendered by the Mast Engineering Co., Inc., of Reading, said the system is not usable because of leaks, broken pipe and other deficiencies.

The Mast report cited 69 leaks, 65 of them on the Tripp contract, but noted that the system could be made usable if the faults were corrected in due time.

After reading the reports, Authority Chairman Walter Barner said the authority would determine if it has the power to bring legal action against the township, forcing the township to issue permits to homeowners ready to tap into the system. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Aloha To The Mummies

String Band Theme 'Hawaiian Holiday'

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

"First Five in '65!"

That's what the sign reads in the clubhouse of the Greater Bucks County String Band as its 60 marching members anxiously await their trek up Philadelphia's Broad St. New Year's Day in the 65th annual Mummies Parade.

And take it from Frank Weller, the band captain who will be struttin' in his 16th Mummies Parade, the Bucks boys really think they have it this time.

One thing for sure. The Greater Bucks band will present a colorful spectacular along Broad St. and on television.

"Hawaiian Holiday" is the theme of the Bucks band, an idea conceived by Mel Slack of Levittown who was responsible for the band's 1964 motif, the "Fighting 69th," legendary U.S. Army division of World War I.

And it was Slack who made the colorful and feathery costume to be worn by Weller as he leads the band in competition for a slice of the $66,500 in prizes.

Weller, 53-year-old resident of Margo Gardens who organized the band in Pennell back in 1948, is hoping "the last shall be first."

The Greater Bucks band will be the last of the 20 units to step off from Broad and Snyder Sts. in the string band group.

Greater Bucks is one of the two out-of-towns bands in the string band division, the other being the Garden State band from neighboring New Jersey in 19th position.

McDonald Gives Lefthanded OK To Steel Price Hike

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The current round of steel price increases has received a left-handed endorsement from United Steelworkers (USW) President David J. McDonald. "The price increases should put the industry in an even better position to meet the urgent needs of steelworkers," McDonald said yesterday. "Even before the price increases were announced, the industry was in an excellent position to meet the needs of its employees as well as reward them for their increased productivity," he said. The latest firms to announce increases were National and Armco, who said yesterday they were doing so to remain competitive. Inland Steel started the ball rolling last week by instituting a $6 per ton hike in the price of carbon and high strength galvanized sheet, both used widely in the automobile, construction and air-conditioning industries. U.S. Steel, Republic and Granite City followed suit last Friday. Other manufacturers were expected to fall in line. President Johnson said recently he would look with disfavor on any steel price increase. He has not commented on the current developments.

Survivors Report Ten Whites Eaten

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Congolese troops today rescued at least 120 white hostages from the rebels today at the northeastern town of Wamba, army sources reported. Survivors claimed that "about 10 whites" were killed and eaten by the rebels on Christmas Day, reliable sources reported. There was no immediate confirmation of the reports. Army sources said a Congolese army column led by white mercenaries reached Wamba, 240 miles by road northeast of Stanleyville, this morning. These sources said 120 whites were rescued. But other sources put the figure at "between 130 and 150." Rescue planes were rushed to the nearest airstrip to fly the liberated whites out to Leopoldville. Wamba was one of the last towns in the northeastern Congo known to have a concentration of whites held hostage by the Communist-backed rebels.

Lawyers Vote On Bar Proposals

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The membership of the Philadelphia Bar Association votes today on a controversial proposal to restrict crime news coverage which has drawn criticism from news media, jurists, the district attorney, police and the Philadelphia Crime Commission. The "statement of policy," approved by the bar's Criminal Law Committee, seeks to restrict lawyers, prosecutors, judges and law enforcement officers involved in criminal cases. Theodore Voorhees, chancellor of the bar, said the statement was not meant to be a "gag" on the press, rather a list of taboos aimed at preventing Philadelphia from ever becoming a "Dallas."

Man Faces Mental Tests

Bucks County President Judge Edward G. Biester yesterday ordered a Cornwells Heights man to undergo mental tests after hearing the man admit to morals offenses over the past seven years with some 20 juveniles.

The testimony came while James Patterson, 32, who works in a garage on Clymer St. in Bristol Borough, was pleading guilty to a morals offense with a 17-year-old boy last June.

Patterson said yesterday he is engaged to be married. Judge Biester deferred sentencing the defendant after conferring with a psychiatrist. Patterson will be sent to Byberry State Hospital for 90 days.

Free Coffee On Turnpike

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Free coffee will be served as a New Year's safety measure by all Howard Johnson's restaurants on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The Turnpike Commission said Monday the free coffee will be served from 10 p.m., New Year's Eve until 7 a.m., New Year's Day.

Officials of Local 4889, Fairless Works steelworkers, say it's just not so that incumbent international president David J. McDonald has the support of District 7. Hugh Carcella, district director, recently released unofficial results of local-wide nominations which showed 143 nominations for McDonald, 27 for his opponent, I. W. Abel, and 22 locals which did not submit nominations. On the basis of these results, backers of McDonald have claimed the overwhelming support of District 7 which represents 58,000 steelworkers in Southeastern Pennsylvania and the state of Delaware. But officials of 4889 claim the locals which nominated

Too Much Mink For Hijackers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hijackers got more than they bargained for Monday when they drove off a loaded panel truck owned by two Pennsylvania mink ranchers. The truck contained $88,100 worth of minks. A short time later the truck was found abandoned with half the minks still inside. Police theorized the hijackers did not have a large enough car or truck to handle the entire load. The truck had been parked in the heart of the fur district here by Richard Stuver, of Johnstown and Edward Bogus, of St. Benedict while the two went to pick up receipts for a delivery. Stuver said he had started from home with pelts worth about $500,000 but had delivered some before the truck was stolen. He said he notified Pennsylvania state police of the route he was taking but did not tell New York City police "because I never thought of it happening in the city." When recovered the truck contained 1,870 pelts worth about $25 each or $46,750.

On Assessment Injunction

Steel Appeal Ruling Due Tomorrow

By JIM STANTON, Courier-Times Staff Writer After hearing nearly two hours of testimony this morning, Bucks County Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite announced that he would hand down a ruling tomorrow on whether he will grant U. S. Steel a preliminary injunction on its 1965 tax assessment of Fairless Works. In court this morning, the company asked that the judge prevent the county from certifying its $26,505,000 assessment until the company has been given a full hearing by the county board of assessment. Says Entitled To Know Attorney Henry T. Reath maintained that the firm is legally entitled to know how the board arrived at the assessment figure. He also maintained that the sum was based on the 1963 assessment which the court had nullified in a previous decision. County Solicitor Samuel S. Gray said in rebuttal that a delay in the certification of the assessment would cause financial damage to the county and to Falls Township. He admitted that the board refused to disclose how it arrived at the assessment figure. "To Every Taxpayer" "If the board is required to tell U. S. Steel (how it arrived at the figure), it would have to do the same thing for every taxpayer," Gray said. The granting of a preliminary injunction, Gray said, would cause "resulting confusion to the county and, in particular, the township."

Sheppard's Wife Has Miscarriage

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Mrs. Ariane, Tebbenjohans Sheppard, the blonde second wife of Dr. Sam Sheppard, underwent a miscarriage Christmas Eve... it was revealed today.

Mrs. Sheppard, who married Dr. Sam shortly after he was released from Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus last July, said she had been about three months pregnant. She was recovering in her suburban Rocky River home.

Sheppard, convicted in 1954 of the budgeon slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, served nine years for the slaying. He is awaiting a ruling by the federal court of appeals on whether he will remain free or return to prison.

Barry To Have Back Surgery

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Monday he would undergo back surgery in Washington Jan. 5. Goldwater made the announcement while visiting a youth with a broken neck in a hospital here.

He said Dr. Janet Travell, who was recommended to him by the late President Kennedy, would perform the surgery. Dr. Travell served as Kennedy's back physician.

Moscow Likes 'My Fair Lady'

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Russian version of "My Fair Lady" opened here Monday night to a response so warm that one member of the cast said "this production will live a long time." The cast got nine curtain calls from an enthusiastic audience.

Abel are the large ones and have "better than 52 per cent" of the total membership of those locals which nominated either party. Since the election is determined by individual vote, these officials say that, come February 9, the final vote could go either way.

Tullytown Borough is small and its police car doesn't have to move very far on any call.

Twice last week, though, the car was unable to move at all. It ran out of gas — once in front of the borough hall on Main St., once out on the road in the Levittown section of the borough.

A service station road truck came to the rescue each time.

2 More Firms Raise Prices

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Two more major steel producing companies announced $6-a-ton increases today in the prices of certain products. Bethlehem Steel, the nation's No. 2 producer, and Wheeling Steel fell in line with the selective increase touched off last week. Bethlehem's increase on galvanized sheets is effective tomorrow. Wheeling's increase was effective immediately on galvanized sheets and roofing, and culvert sheets.

Causes $3,300 Damage

Auto Rams Store In Bristol

A New Jersey woman entered a Bristol television store last night but failed to get out of her car before doing so. Mrs. Winona Jones, 54, of Willingboro, lost control of her car at the intersection of Mill St. and Old Route 13 and crashed into the F&M TV Store, 425 Mill St. at 7:08 p.m., police reported. Estimated damage to the building was set at $2,500 and damage to the merchandise in the store window was set at $800. Police said that Mrs. Jones drove through a red traffic signal and collided with a car operated by Attila Stabilito, 45, of 1902 Spencer Drive, Croydon. Her car then caromed off Stabilito's car and rammed into the building, police said. Neither driver was injured. However, Mrs. Jones was charged with running a red light and driving too fast for conditions. She was cited to appear before Justice of the Peace Eugene Spadaccino. The accident was investigated by Sgt. Michael Manto.

Crash Causes Traffic Detour

Traffic on State Road was detoured for more than 30 minutes last night after an errant auto smashed into an electrical pole. Bristol Township police reported the car, driven by Vincent Vannucci, 25, of 434 Logan St., Bristol, rammed a pole near Jackson Fuse Co. Vannucci said he was passing two autos when the car hit a hole in the road, swerved and ran into the pole. Harry Keller, 16, of 335 Walnut St., Bristol, a passenger, was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital for treatment of a bruised knee. Vannucci will be charged by police with reckless driving. The accident occurred at 11:15 p.m.

Motorist Foils Burglary Try

A passing motorist reportedly foiled an attempt by burglars to gain entrance to the Bristol Beef Co., 533 Maple St., Bristol, early this morning. Police received a call at 1:45 a.m. that "some men" were on the roof of the building. When Patrolman Michael Pierendozzi arrived on the scene the motorist told him the suspects had fled. The name of the motorist was not revealed by police.

On Secy., Authority Member

Last night's special meeting of the Bristol Township School Board was expected to produce a new secretary and election of a member to the school authority.

But the brief session produced nothing more than questions on legality and procedure and a motion to table action until next year.

The meeting had been scheduled after attempts to fill the two positions resulted in stale-mated voting on Dec. 17.

How Vote Went At the outset of last night's meeting, Director Thomas J. Walsh Jr. moved to table both appointments. He was joined by fellow Democrats Mrs. Angela Blatt, Donald McKenna, Mrs. Faith Murray and Dr. Martin Rawdin, board president.

Republicans John F. Hess, Newton H. Parkes Jr. and George W. Fischer voted against tabling the action. Charles J. McGrath, a Democrat, did not vote, contending Walsh's motion "is not a legal motion."

Pays $1,200 On Dec. 17, McGrath had nominated Jesse Blount of Fleetwing Estates for the secretary's job which pays $1,200 annually. McKenna put forward the name of Mrs. Jack Ward, wife of Bristol Township's commissioner from the eighth ward. Hess was absent from the Dec. 17 meeting and the voting ended in a 4-4 deadlock.

On the authority voting, the tally was split 3-3 for a trio of candidates, namely George Lukens of Croydon, presently on the authority; Leroy Seymour and Harry Alter of Levittown. The position is for five years.

2nd Opportunity

Last night Walsh said "I feel there's no qualified candidates" when he made his tabling motion. "I feel I have a second opportunity now," he remarked after the meeting. The directors, by a 6-3 vote, set a policy that full-time non-professional employees, hired after Jan. 1, must reside in Bristol Township for the full duration of their employment as a condition of employment. The action is subject to the solicitor's legal opinion before becoming effective.

The policy will take in the hiring of custodians, bus drivers, maintenance men, cafeteria workers and secretarial personnel.

Vote No Hess, Mrs. Murray and Rawdin voted against the policy change.

The next meeting of the board will be on Jan. 6 when contracts will be awarded for additions to Woodrow Wilson and Delhaas High School and Clara Barton and Lafayette Elementary Schools.

City Hall Theft Nets $200,000

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Two dapper holdup men—one described as handsome in a continental way—overpowered City Treasurer Melvin Elliott today and escaped from his city hall office with about $16,000 in cash and an estimated $184,000 in tax checks, police reported.

A pedestrian grappled with one of the men outside city hall as the bandits ran to their getaway car. A policeman fired a shot at the fleeing auto but failed to halt it. The car was found later abandoned a mile from the scene.

Homes To Be Built On 600-Acre Site

Bensalem Township supervisors last night unanimously approved a rezoning of 600 acres in the northern part of the township for home building.

The change was sought by Hyman Korman, Inc., owner of the land bordered in part by the Neshaminy Creek, Hulmeville Road and Bristol Road. Five hundred acres will be used for actual home building and the other 100 acres will be devoted to park and recreation land.

Actual building on the tract is two to three years away according to a company spokesman. Korman is presently developing a smaller tract at Hulmeville and Street Roads where 320 single homes and a shopping center will be built.

The zoning change was from RA-farmland to R2-residential and is the first step in the eventual development. Under R2 zoning, the minimum lot size is 7,500 square feet and establishes a population density of a maximum of 2,500 single homes on the tract.

About 20 persons attended the public hearing held at the township's municipal building and no one voiced objection to the builder's preliminary plans.

Frank Elliott, vice president of the Korman firm and Roland Sykes, its attorney, told the supervisors the builder planned to develop several communities in the tract which would be interlaced with parkland. Elliott explained that some of the parkland would be set aside for active recreation while some would be left in woodland.

He said a survey made by the firm indicated that botanists are very interested in preserving some valuable species of flora found in the area. The parkland will be turned over to the county park board for development.

Elliott said the firm will confer with the township school board, planning commission and water and sewer authority as well as with the county water and sewer authority before it submits a tentative master plan to the supervisors for approval. He said detailed sub-division plans would be submitted for each community before it is developed.

Three Injured On Route 1

Three people were injured last night on Route 1 in Middletown Township in a two-car collision on the highway.
